Chapter 115: The Fifth Clones' Creation of Inner Worlds and Emissaries

It did not take long-merely a few months-for the fifth clones of Sung Jin-Woo and Sung Su-Ho, stationed at the Palace of the Divine Legacy, to feel the monotony of their roles as elders. Boredom crept in quickly, and the two clones decided to explore the vast depths of their inherited powers. Following the path of their predecessors, they created inner worlds within their bodies-masterpieces that reflected their unique personalities and creativity.

These inner worlds, while smaller in scale compared to those of the third and fourth clones, were no less intricate or powerful. To maintain and manage these realms, the fifth clones also gave birth to emissaries, exceptional beings imbued with immense power and wisdom.

Sung Jin-Woo's Fifth Clone

Inner World: Tenebris Sanctum

A realm of serene darkness, where shadows dance in harmony rather than chaos. The Tenebris Sanctum is a tranquil yet powerful world, filled with towering black forests, crystalline shadow lakes, and an eternal, starry night sky. It serves as a place of contemplation and quiet strength, embodying the wisdom and patience of the fifth clone.

Emissary: Obscuras

A figure of calm and wisdom, Obscuras is a humanoid entity cloaked in flowing, translucent shadows that shimmer like starlight. Tasked with maintaining the balance of the Tenebris Sanctum, Obscuras is both a sage and a warrior, wielding shadows with unparalleled precision to ensure the sanctity of the realm.

Sung Su-Ho's Fifth Clone

Inner World: Pyraetherial Dominion

A blazing yet orderly realm of controlled flames and luminous energy, the Pyraetherial Dominion is where fire and light coexist in perfect harmony. This realm boasts vast glowing plains, floating fire-crystal islands, and rivers of golden magma. It reflects the fifth clone's mastery over the fiery essence of the Dragonkin and his deep sense of order.

Emissary: Ignirion

A radiant draconic being, Ignirion exudes both strength and grace. With scales that glow like molten gold and wings shimmering with flames, Ignirion serves as the guardian of the Pyraetherial Dominion. He ensures the steady flow of fiery energy within the realm, guiding its denizens toward unity and controlled growth.
